A bit of news that will not divide interest with any item this morning is contained in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Armstrong, daughter of Thomas Armstrong, Jr., to George W. Heise, of Manila. The wedding will take place in Honolulu, early in August. Miss Armstrong was educated at the University of Wisconsin and is an exceptionally clever young woman. There are many sincere regrets that her marriage will take her to Manila where Mr. Heise is connected with the bureau of science. He is also a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and is said to be one of the most brilliant and popular men on the island. Miss Armstrong will go to Honolulu the latter part of July, with her sisters, Miss Marian Armstrong and Miss Mary Armstrong, who will pass a few weeks in Honolulu before their return.

Mrs. Thomas Kavanaugh presided over a charming dinner Thursday evening in honor of Professor and Mrs. L. E. Drake, of Waterloo, Iowa. Pink and white roses were used in effective table decoration and the place cards featured flowers. Both the professor and Mrs. Drake are exceptionally fine musicians and following the dinner they furnished a delightful program of piano numbers. Mrs. Kavanaugh's guests were Professor and Mrs. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blair, Mrs. R. H. Wilkinson, Miss Nell Wilkinson, Miss Patricia Davidson, Robert Boardman and C. H. King.

Mrs. George Olney and Miss Henrietta Olney left Friday evening for California. On her return in the autumn, Miss Olney will leave for the east where she will enter a fashionable girls' school. With this popular girl out of town and Miss Ruth Jessop at the Normal, society will lose three of its favorite members.

Mrs. Robert A. Craig will leave this week for Iron Springs where she has leased a cottage for the season.

Mrs. Vernon Cook, of 1218 North Third street, left last evening for San Francisco.

Melville Ellis left Thursday for the coast after a few days in town the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Goldman. Mr. Ellis has only recently recovered from a serious illness and was unable to accept the many events planned in his honor. The Goldmans received informally in honor of the clever young celebrity on Wednesday evening, later entertaining their guests at Riverside.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Loper motored to Roosevelt for the week end.

Miss Jessie Higley presided over a prettily appointed dance Friday evening at her country place on the McDowell road. The porches were hung in greenery and gay Japanese lanterns. Among those who enjoyed Miss Higley's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burr Atha, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Sims Ely, Jr., Miss Ruth Griffin, Sizzling---Isn't It?

—Perhaps you've noticed that some men look more comfortable and cool than others—and you'll find invariably, that these people have solved the hot weather problem by dressing for hot weather.

For every detail of man's dress we have something cool and summery to offer. We watch the markets diligently for "temperature reducers," and consequently you find the new things first at this shop.

CLUB NOTES

:: Official Organ State Federation of Clubs ::

Under the auspices of the Woman's Club an annual bazaar is held in November. While that is the month the affair is in the minds of those in search of pretty novelties, it is during the long summer season that it is uppermost in the thoughts of the club women.

It is in July and August and the early autumn months that they make or plan their donation which always has the happy faculty of being more attractive than anything that is to be seen in the shops.

Mrs. H. W. Kennedy's is chairman of this year's bazaar committee and it is for as they have been chosen are sold and fairly Mrs. Dwight B. Heard, upon Mrs. S. K. Levi, Helen, Mrs. Hugh Campbell, candy, Mrs. Selma Michelson, refreshment, Mrs. H. E. Marks and instead of the grab-bag there will be a country store in charge of Mrs. Fred Woolsey. There will be a number of helpers in each booth and all will take advantage of their summer vacations to prepare articles for sale in their respective booths. The bazaar will be made up of the newest ideas brought from the far east or the west and there will be for sale a beautiful collection of up-to-date articles suitable for holiday gifts.

But the committees in the booths cannot do it all. Just as "One swallow does not make a spring" so a few members cannot make a bazaar. It becomes then, the duty of each member to lend a hand, giving at least a small amount of time and work to make the bazaar a financial success. No fault can be found with refreshments will be served by pretty society girls who will don the chic serving costume of the French maid. There will be the usual booths of course, containing the newest things in hand-embroidered linens and linoleum, hand-made handkerchiefs and collars, both dainty and useful. There will be novelties of all kinds, delicious home made candy and flowers whose beauty and fragrance seem to bring to us a sight and breath of heaven itself. The tout ensemble will be a delightful scene of brightness and animation.

The booths and their chairmen, as far as they have been chosen are sold and fairly Mrs. Dwight B. Heard, upon Mrs. S. K. Levi, Helen, Mrs. Hugh Campbell, candy, Mrs. Selma Michelson, refreshment, Mrs. H. E. Marks and instead of the grab-bag there will be a country store in charge of Mrs. Fred Woolsey. But the committees in the booths cannot do it all. Just as "One swallow does not make a spring" so a few members cannot make a bazaar. It becomes then, the duty of each member to lend a hand, giving at least a small amount of time and work to make the bazaar a financial success. No fault can be found with work that counts and when officers or chairmen of committees see an active interest among members, it becomes an inspiration to them. They see that a great deal is expected of them and they respond with great effort and achievement.

All members are asked to give something—something that will sell. Give something that you would like to have yourself and make it yourself if possible. A small purchase of material with a little time and skill may be converted into something that will sell for many times what it cost. Put a little thought upon it and a little of your individuality into it.

Don't buy something to give, donate the money instead, because often your donation cannot be sold for what it cost you. A little money is very welcome to the chairmen as it enables her to buy materials upon which she and her committee can work. Don't promise to give unless you mean it, for nothing is more disappointing than to be watching and waiting for the donations that never come. Encourage the solicitor by saying, "I'll try," and if, when the time comes, you are unable to give, say so frankly and honestly.

Don't think that, if you are not solicited personally, your donation is not wanted. It will be an oversight and not an intended slight.

Don't forget that you are a link in the chain that makes the strength and efficiency of the club, and that the club, as any other business enterprise, needs money for its success and growth.

The bazaar of former years have all proven to be artistic and financially successful and the committee in charge will feel well satisfied, if the one on November thirtieth is equally successful.

Dispatches from Princeton state that Mrs. Frances Folson Cleveland Preston, widow of former President Cleveland, delivered a talk against woman suffrage in Alexander Hall, Mrs. Preston declared that in New Jersey and many other states hundreds of women did not want the ballot.

Mrs. Ruggles Entertains Missionaries Mrs. James Ruggles proved a most charming hostess Friday when she entertained the ladies of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church at a picnic dinner. Early in the day some fifty members.
